

Modern media is a common element, for the people, governed by the people. Recent movements to allow centralized ownership go against the wisdom on the subject. I will follow this issue and reward wise choices with my vote.